This report is structured in five
parts: national framework for traditional and complementary medicine (T&CM);
product regulation;

practices and practitioners; the challenges faced by countries; and, finally, the country profiles.

Apart from the section on practices and practitioners, the report is consistent with the format of the report of the first global survey in order to provide a useful comparison. The

Where To Download

section on practices and practitioners, which covers providers, education and health insurance, is a new section incorporated to reflect the emerging trends in T&CM and to gather new information regarding these topics at a national level. All new information received

Where To Download

has been incorporated into individual country profiles and data graphs. The report captures the three phases of progress made by Member States; that is, before and after the first WHO Traditional Medicine Strategy (1999-2005), from the first global survey to the second global survey (2005-2012) and from the second survey to the most recent timeline (2012-2018).

A drug policy is a crucial ingredient in every country's national health strategy as it provides a strategic framework to identify goals and

This is a study of the nature of corruption in Ethiopia. It maps eight key sectors. The diagnostics strongly
suggest that, in

Where To Download

Ethiopia, corrupt practice in the delivery of basic services is potentially much lower than other low-income countries, but that there are emerging patterns in sector level corruption.
